Beliefs and practices:

- By serving, our eyes are opened to the need for change in the world.
- Together we can do more than anyone of us can do alone.
- Our faith traditions tell us to use the gifts of our time, energy, creativity and money to be a blessing to others.
- We match untapped resources with unaddressed needs.
- All faith traditions are to be valued and respected.
- We serve with joy as well as compassion.
- KIN is a 501c3, all-volunteer organization. Every dollar donated to our projects is used for the projects. Our low overhead expenses are paid by the dues of our member congregations. Our congregations and the community at-large provide the resources we need for the work we do. KIN does not receive any government funding.
- KIN is governed by the KIN board, made up of representatives of member congregations, as well as individuals who may be members at large, or representatives of faith-based communities that are not officially affiliated with KIN. The only requirement is a willingness to serve. KIN board meetings are held the first Saturday of every month and are open to anyone who wishes to attend.
